Feeling "Run Down?"

Just suppose that right now you were talking to a physician.

YOU would have to confess to him that somehow you seem to tire very quickly nowadays; that your energy is gone and that now and then you feel jumpy and irritated.

"My dear man!" he would no doubt say, "Look at the symptoms logically. Yours is a clear case of strained nerves. We need not go into how you got that way. The climate, hard and nervous work, late nights, they can all be to blame—but you want to know how to become your old self again. Why not start taking Sanatogen—it's really great stuff! It's made just for people like you, and I know from long experience that it will do you a lot of good. You have asked too much from your nerves, and with Sanatogen you replace the lost energy quickly."

Over 25,000 physicians are of the opinion that taking Sanatogen is the easy and logical way back to real health and vitality. Why not give Sanatogen a trial? Every chemist sells it. Start taking it now, then you will soon notice its remarkable influence on your health and vitality.

Opening Of Trooping Season

The trooping season opened on Sept. 10 with the dispatch of the hired transport Lancashire from Southampton to the Far East. She carries naval crews as reliefs for the China Station and Army and R.A.F. drafts. She should arrive at Port Said on September 20, at Singapore on October 8, and at Hong-kong on October 13.

The Nevada was to have taken the first of the military drafts to India on September 22, but this service is postponed since she carried half of the 2nd Infantry Brigade to Palestine on Sept. 14. Since the Dorsetshire takes half of the 3rd Infantry Brigade to Palestine her voyage with drafts for Egypt, Sudan, Aden, Basra, and India has also to be redated. She was to have left Southampton on October 7. These two transports are the only ones of the regular service taken for the emergency movements, and the effect on drafts going out and on time-expired men coming home is not expected to be great.

The first of the unit movements is scheduled for September 25, when the 3rd Carabiniers from Hounslow and "F" Battery, R.H.A. of St. John's Wood, will go to India. A second ship to carry out China unit reliefs will leave on October 1, and after that date the programme does not contain an outward sailing until November 20, which allows the two Palestine transports to complete their work and return for ordinary trooping.

GERMAN PRESS VIEWS

Mr. Eden's Declaration At Geneva

Berlin, Sept. 25.
The entire German Press gives great prominence to the programme declaration of the British Foreign Minister, Capt. Anthony Eden, all headlines emphasising Eden's demand that the League Covenant be separated from the Treaty of Versailles, this being a demand which the German Government had voiced for long past.

Other significant features, to which attention is drawn in the absence of even one word on the Abyssinian question, England's readiness for a West pact, the necessity of restoration of international co-operation in the spheres of economics and finance as well as politics, and the need for tolerance among the European people.

On the whole the German comment is friendly, the "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" declaring with satisfaction that "the German programme item has been taken over."

The "Berliner Lokalanzeiger" declares: "The British Foreign Minister, in the first part of his speech, declares that the nations do not need to be divided into two camps according to their form of Government. What really counts is whether the external form really does something to promote peace. The British Foreign Minister had in this regard demanded that at least the League of Nations be adjusted to reality. The suggestion for utilisation of the Covenant of the League of Nations to alter treaties that could no longer be kept up in the present form, has for the first time been brought up in concrete form." These remarks in the "Lokalanzeiger" appear under the heading "Can Geneva Be Saved?"

The "Angriff" heads the Geneva news, "Eden for the League Covenant without Versailles as Basis." The "Berliner Tageblatt" stresses the fact that "England adheres in the wish to create a powerful League, able at any time to step in against any disturber of peace."

DEPARTURE FOR GERMANY

Among the passengers of the s.s. Scharnhorst travelling to Germany was Frau Rosa Rohde. Frau Rohde has been in China for 11 years, first in Ichang with her husband, Captain Hugo Rohde, who, as one of the first Captains on the upper Yangtze was a very well-known figure in the Yangtze valley. After his death which occurred three years ago, Frau Rohde went as a teacher to Kuling, joining the Kuling American School. The Governor of Kiangsi asked her to take over the management of his house, which, through the position of Kiangsi as Headquarters of Marshal Chiang, had grown in importance.

In Nanchang, the residence of the Governor, Frau Rohde soon became known as a charming hostess, entertaining many distinguished visitors who came to confer with the Governor, one of Marshal Chiang's closest co-operators. When no guests were there, Frau Rohde gave piano and language lessons to the young wife of the Governor.

Asked whether she was on leave, or travelling home for good, Frau Rohde said she had made no definite plans as yet. She was going to look up all her friends and relatives in Germany, and study all the new organisations there, that had been inaugurated in recent years. It was quite possible that she would come back to China, which had grown a second home to her. Frau Rohde speaks excellent Mandarin.

NON-INTERFERENCE IN CIVIL WAR

Method Denounced By Spanish Minister

Geneva, Sept. 25.
"The non-interference proposal by the leading powers concerning the Spanish Civil War is a legal monstrosity," declared the Madrid Foreign Minister, del Vayo, in his speech before the Plenary Session of the League Assembly on Friday afternoon. The Minister protested vehemently that the non-interference was interpreted in such a way that the Legitimate Government in Madrid was placed on the same footing as the Rebels. He pointed out that non-intervention as carried out at present was in effect a blockade of Madrid.

Del Vayo also stated that the non-interference is proving unsuccessful as far as the Rebels are concerned, since they are now in possession of "immense quantities of war material," which they did not have when the uprising began. "Evidently referring to Portugal's attitude towards the belligerent parties in Spain, the Minister said: "No country, no matter how different its form of Government may be from that prevailing in Madrid, has reason to fear interference in its internal affairs from Spain which I represent. This particularly refers to the direct neighbours of Spain."

GERMAN MILITARY MANOEUVRES

Bad Nauheim, Sept. 25.

The German Autumn manoeuvres, in which several Army corps, as well as mechanised divisions and several squadrons of the Air Force took part, were concluded here on Friday in the presence of "Chancellor" Hitler, War Minister Blomberg, General von Seeckt and many other former commanders of the Reichswehr and officers of the former Imperial Army, as well as the foreign military attaches.

The climax of the five days and four nights' fighting, which took place in extremely difficult territory and under conditions as nearly as possible resembling real war time, was the decisive battle on Friday in the course of which the "Blue Army" pierced the lines of the "Red Army" by a frontal at-

New Swimming Bath At Sun Yat Sen Park

MASU BEACH PROVES POPULAR

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Swatow, Sept. 14.

That Swatow is striving to become a modern city, at least in making an effort in the direction of social amenities, can be gauged by the fact that we can now boast of a nice swimming pool situated within the precincts of the Sun Yat Sen Park.

The popularity of the innovation is proved by the big number of bathers day and night.

Directly under government control and amidst beautiful surroundings, the bath measures 80 by 50 metres. The water is pumped out and changed late every night from the Han River, at the entrance of which is the Park situated. A big shed is built at the rear of the bath, providing facilities for changing; and from where light refreshments can be obtained. The sides are of reinforced concrete with iron steps (as ladder) all round. The middle part is deeper than the rest, while the chief feature of attraction is the spring-board.

Even a non-swimmer can spend a nice evening there for 20 cents, either watching the others swim or otherwise quietly sitting down enjoying the breeze and the greenish form of surroundings.

It is hoped that future aquatic sports, if any, will be held in this bath.

BOATING AND FISHING

The Sun Yat Sen Park itself is very pleasant for one to while away the hot and long summer hours. You can do boating and fishing in the river; for the more lazily inclined, there are two kiosks raised on the water edge and from where the fun can be watched. Very often Chinese music lovers sing and play instruments while boating, and scores of other boats would follow them and enjoy themselves. Now and then one hears a splash and someone has gone over the side through excitement or carelessness.

The Kialat bathing shed has been rebuilt as the greater part of it was blown away by the recent blow. Swimming in this part of the town has always been popular despite the pretty long distance. It is gratifying that, so far, this season, there has not been any accident or incident.

With regard to the favourite Masu Island resort, I paid a visit there over the week-end and was much impressed with what I saw.

As usual, the number of people—foreigners and Chinese—in the water must have been over a hundred, and what a jolly time they were having. I counted there were nineteen sharks of various sizes, the total number being bigger than last season.

The launch "Swatow No. 1" makes three trips on Sundays, and the charge is 40 cents for a return trip per head. In former years there were no conveyance facilities of this nature, and Masu was only accessible to private motor-boat owners; yet some people would resort to big sampans, which mode of travelling is rather tedious. The International Club has the biggest shack there, and is very conveniently situated. With the exception of the Customs Chinese Staff shack the rest are private-owned. It is a matter of great regret that native girls do not take to the water as much as Cantonese, and the reason cannot be explained unless they are too prudish.

MINISTERS MEET IN FRANCE

Financial Situation Discussed

Paris, Sept. 25. The crisis which had arisen some time ago as to the future of the franc, and which on Thursday led to the raising of the bankrate from 3 to 5 per cent, culminated on Friday in a Ministerial Council being held, which lasted for 4 hours, at the end of which time an official communiqué was issued, which however only stated that the Minister of Finance, Vincent Auriol informed the Government as to the Budget and the general financial situation.

The semi-official news agency at the same time publishes the report that on Saturday in the early morning an identical note would be published in Paris, London and Washington, setting forth the terms of an agreement on currency matters entered upon by the Governments of France, England and the United States. Auriol, so the Agency continues, has reported the terms of this agreement to the Ministerial Council. The text of this note is said now to be in preparation by competent authorities of the three Governments concerned.

The negotiations which finally led to his agreement being concluded, have been going on intensively for three months. The French Parliament has been convened for Monday next to ratify the proposals made by the Government. The French Stock Exchange will remain closed till Tuesday. It is considered as certain that the French Chamber will have passed the ratification before Tuesday midday.

DANZIG INCIDENT CLOSED

No Intentional Slight By German Cruiser

Geneva, Sept. 26. On the Friday session of the League Council, the report of the Polish Government on the Danzig incident on the occasion of the cruiser Leipzig was received, according to which no intentional slight, towards the League of Nations' High Commissioner was intended. The Council thereupon declared the incident closed.

Subsequently the Council passed a motion terminating the financial control over Austria which had been in operation since 1932. The Austrian Minister of Finance drew attention to the fact that the Austrian Budget was nearly balanced, the debt service of the State being fully maintained and transferred, while the Austrian currency had overcome all difficulties.

"OLD MAN RHYTHM"

Charles (Buddy) Rogers who deserted Hollywood at the height of his stardom and remained away for three years to become one of the nation's most popular orchestra leaders and special theatre personality attractions returns to the film fold as the headliner of RKO Radio's "Old Man Rhythm." Showing at the Majestic Theatre. A secure place in the picture industry and an enviable fan following. Rogers decided to try new entertainment fields in 1932. He stepped immediately into a leading role in the late Ziegfeld's "Hotcha" on Broadway. After appearing in the show for some time, he organized a dance orchestra to play at New York's Pennsylvania hotel, whence his music was broadcast over NBC.

For six months he doubled up on his jobs and then took his band on a tour of every major city in the United States. An invitation took him to the Chicago World's Fair. Later he played at the College Inn and the Casino. While at the Fair he committed to New York by airplane to take the leading role in the picture, "Take a Chance," directing his band over the week ends.

His success as an orchestra leader may be measured by the fact that his band was the only one invited to play at the second Chicago World's Fair.

Just before accepting the lead in "Old Man Rhythm" Rogers went to London to make a picture called "Dance Band" and to play for a series of recordings.

"Buddy" Rogers' vehicle is directed by Edward Ludwig, under the supervision of Zion Myers. In the cast are Barbara Kent, Grace Bradley, George Barbier, Dave Chasen, Betty Grable and a score of young ace entertainers recruited from radio, stage and vaudeville, as well as night clubs.

Erik Rhodes and Eric Blore, remembered for their comedy parts, in "The Gay Divorcee" and "Roberta," and who will be seen in the new Astaire-Rogers musical "Top Hat," have major roles.

"THE WALKING DEAD"

The eyes have it! Boris Karloff has been horribly scarred and deformed. Clamps have been attached to his skull. His hands have been made claw-like. Make-up artists have contrived to make him the sort of creature mothers invent to scare their naughty offspring.

There is none of this in his latest picture, "The Walking Dead," the Warner Bros. picture now showing at the Queen's Theatre.

In his scenes as the avenging nemesis, his eyes are deep sunken in their sockets, while seemingly burning from hidden fires. One is made smaller by covering the eyelid. The other is larger, intensified by hidden clips and grease paint shadows.

Logic demanded that he undergo certain physical changes after electrocution. One side of his body is shriveled and twisted by the tremendous currents of the "hot seat." By highlighting one side of his face and shadowing the other, the same effect is carried further. A patch of white hair crosses his skull as if seared by the high voltage.

"The Walking Dead" is a mystery drama of thrills and chills starring Karloff. Others in the cast include Ricardo Cortez, Edmund Gwenn.

see Kitty because he was not sure that he loved her.

It is a story that never grows old, and persistency wins again in the end, with the usual fade-out.

With the picture is a W. A. D. story "Mickey Mouse" short entitled, "Mickey's Fire Brigade" which is certainly a mirth-provoker.

FILM "EXTRAS" CHARTER PLANS

Guinea A Day Contract

INSURANCE AGAINST ACCIDENTS

The struggle to obtain a "Magna Carta" for the film "extra"—the guinea a day crowd actor—is nearing its end. When it is attained it will be in two parts—a Government Bill, and a standard daily contract approved by all British film studios.

It is understood that the Government intend to include in the Factory Bill, to be introduced in the next Session of Parliament, a provision making insurance against injuries to film "extras" compulsory.

The desire of film "extras" for better working hours and conditions is also likely to be satisfied. "We are very hopeful," stated Captain A. M. Crickett, Secretary of the Film Artists' Association, to a representative of the "Morning Post" recently, "of reaching an agreement which will do away with the present state of chaos in the British film industry."

The case for the compulsory insurance of film "extras" was presented to the Home Secretary recently by Major H. A. Procter, M.P., who is President of the Film Artists' Association.

"STARS" PROTECTED

It was pointed out that, while the highly paid film actor or actress is covered by insurance against injury, it is not to the interest of the studio proprietors to insure against loss or accident in the case of poorly paid artists or casual workers, because of the present lack of legislation.

At least one of the larger British film corporations does insure the "extras" against injury, to the extent of 30s. a week, but there have been several recent instances of serious injuries for which no compensation has been received.

A more strongly felt grievance, which has caused several studio disturbances and demonstrations, is the question of working hours and overtime. Film "extras" complain that, in order to reach some of the studios out of London, they have to leave home at five o'clock in the morning and often do not return until nine or ten at night. The number of hours worked each day in different studios varies, and overtime is not always paid.

"EXTRAS" EXPENSES

Film "extras," who receive a guinea for a day's work, estimate that fares, food in the studio, agents' fees and other expenses, amount at least to five shillings or six shillings a day.

It is now proposed that a standard daily contract shall be drawn up to be observed at all studios,

"THE DARK ANGEL"

Characterizations in the film, "The Dark Angel" are humanely portrayed by the three principals, Frederic March, Merle Oberon, and Herbert Marshall.

Alan Trent (March), and Gerald Shannon (Marshall), have been in love with Kitty Vane (Merle Oberon), since childhood, in a peaceful part of rural England.

At the beginning of the World War, the boys, grown to manhood, join up with the Forces, but Kitty is still uncertain of her affinity. Through an unfortunate misunderstanding, Alan is refused home leave, and, on a raiding party, is believed to be killed.

At the conclusion of the war, Gerald returns alone, and is confronted by Kitty about Alan's non-appearance.

Blinded, Alan's introspection becomes eddied in a whirling of emotions that leads to a vortex from which the only escape is death.

He is dissuaded from committing suicide by a little girl in the hotel in which he is staying, and from that time on he makes a small boy for fame as a writer of children's stories.

During this time, he has persistently refused to see Kitty or his old friends, but a doctor, Sir George Barton (John Halliday), informs Gerald of the upheaval in Alan's life, and together with Kitty they go to see Alan in his new country home.

A reconciliation is not effected until Alan gives himself away in his blindness—he has been pretending that he did not want to

SNATCHING EPIDEMIC IN KOWLOON

Recent Arrival To Be Caned

ROBBED AMAH OF EARRING

Chau Ng, amah residing at No. 107, Boundary Street, was walking along Ngai Street, near Prince Edward Road, Kowloon, when Lai Pak Tum came up from behind her and snatched her right earring.

Although she had a baby in her arms at the time, she tried to give chase, and shouted "Snatcher! snatcher!"

Giving evidence at the Kowloon Police Court on Saturday, the woman said that defendant grabbed her neck and after snatching the earring from her right ear, ran away with it. Defendant was never out of her sight.

The value of the earring was $5. Defendant was about sixty yards from her when he was apprehended.

Det-Sgt. D. G. MacPherson: When the defendant came towards you, was anyone else with him?—No, he was alone.

Was anybody else running in the road besides the defendant?—No, and I saw the policeman arrest him.

Did you see the earring in his possession after he had snatched it?—Yes, I saw it in his hand.

The defendant stated that he had nothing to say.

P. C. C. 280, stated that he was on a bus on Prince Edward Road when he saw the defendant running, and heard the amah shouting, "Snatcher."

He ordered the driver stop, and commandeered a passing truck to give chase.

Mr. E. Himsforth, (Magistrate): How far away was the defendant from complainant when he was arrested?—About eight houses away. The road was empty at the time, except for the defendant.

His Worship (to defendant): You can say something if you want to clear yourself.—I saw a man running, and he was the snatcher, but I am accused. This other man had already disappeared when the constable arrived. That is all I have to say.

Mr. Himsforth: I don't believe your story. This seems to be a favourite form of larceny by recent arrivals in the Colony.

Det-Sgt. MacPherson: There has been an epidemic in Kowloon of late, your Worship.

Mr. Himsforth: I am going to do everything in my power to protect the women in this Colony, and I sentence you to four months in gaol, and to ten strokes with the cane.

EUROPEAN VAGRANT

Defendant was fined $5.

BODY DUMPED

Appearing on remand before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Police Court on Saturday on a charge of dumping the body of Chinese child Shum Sum, married woman, was discharged. Det-Sgt. Pilkington stated that there had been quite a few reports made to the Headmaster of the Pui Tak School, Caine Road about the defendant. On many occasions the schoolboys had given money on the mere approach of the defendant rather than have him threaten them.

On September 21 he threatened complainant with violence which would require 25 cents for medicine if complainant did not pay him 25 cents.

A conducted tour of the New Territory Churches and mission schools, was held on Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Kowloon Union Church. It was the Church's feature programme for the week-end and was well attended.

Owing to the limited time at their disposal the party could only visit a few of the Churches and schools, among which were those at Tsuen Wan, Castle Peak, Un Long and Tai Po. A short service was held at the Un Long Chapel.

Concluding the day's programme a congregational supper was held in the Union Church Hall, attended by those who went on the tour. After supper talks were given by Rev. A. H. Bray, of the Chinese Methodist Church, Hennessy Road; the Rev. Frank Short, of the Ying Wah Boys' College; and Dr. Frank Ashton of the Alice Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. Mr. Bray pointed out that the church-going people of Tsuen Wan were recruited from all walks of life, and their keenness in their Sunday and daily work was an indication of the Church's policy.

Dr. Ashton described daily scenes which take place in the Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. Frank Short commented on the charges laid against the mission and missionaries of being reactionaries, sectarian and "stuffy."

At the conclusion of the Rev. Mr. Short's talk, a hearty vote of thanks for the speakers was given, after which the gathering dispersed.

WALLACE HARPER WINS MOTOR TREASURE HUNT

Cryptic Messages Give Clues

ANZAC FUNCTION A SUCCESS

According to the members who participated in the Australian and New Zealand Association Treasure Hunt, the affair was most successful.

Cryptic messages were given to some forty persons assembled at the Police Pier at 8 p.m. on Saturday, and with about an average of five each in eight cars the jolly party started out to search for the treasure.

Eight clues in all were given, and the first led to the Reservoir. The next to Kowloon Tong, and from there to the Kowloon Football Club.

Getting closer on the trail, the members were then sent to Tennis, beach, but only had to return to the Railway Beach for another clue.

The last clue was at the European Y. M. C. A., which led the winner to the residence of Mr. F. Stoker, at Twelve-mile beach, the end of the hunt.

Mr. Wallace Harper was the winner, and second place was won by Mr. G. Dudley. As it happened, both were driving, Ford's, and much comment was made on the winners using the same make of cars.

At a few minutes after 11 p.m. the party had a "Bush" supper, where coffee was made over an open fire, but, by that time, the gathering had dwindled perceptibly.

Among the party were: Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Le Gay Bregeon, Mr. and Mrs. F. Stoker, Mr. and Mrs. J. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. G. Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wheeler, Mrs. Blakey, the Misses A. Fowler, K. Tonge, L. H. Murray, Townsend, and the Messrs. T. Ingram, Joe Wolfe, Geo. Morrin and G. Dudley, Jr.

CHARITY CONCERT SUCCESS

"Million-Airs On Parade"

LARGE AUDIENCE AT CRAIGENGOWER

Repeating the success which attended their presentation of "Million-Airs On Parade" at the Club de Recreio two weeks ago, the Hong Kong Portuguese Amateur Artists again delighted a large audience at the Craigengower Cricket Club last night when they offered the same show.

Given under the distinguished patronage of the Right Rev. Henry Victoria, Vicar Apostolic of Hong Kong, and Dr. Avaro Brilhante Laborinho, Consul for Portugal, the proceeds of the entertainment, are for the Society of St. Vincent De Paul.

Together with the $800 raised at the previous performance, the money which was taken last night now brings the total to over $1,000.

Under the able management of Messrs. M. P. dos Remedios (Manager), Fred Abraham (Director), and Art Carneiro (Musica Director) the show was a great success and all concerned are deserving of the heartiest congratulations.

Irene Sousa, Betty Tavares, Nena Gardner and Betty Marques opened the programme with "Greeting in Rhythm," which was followed by "Top Hat, White Tie and Tails." Both these numbers received the abundant applause as was accorded on their previous appearances.

Ozo and his Boy Friends, with vocal refrains by Doreen Ma, won applause with their jazz numbers. Betty Tavares and chorus danced a charming tango number, "Poema" which was followed by a short comedy entitled "Santa Lucia," wherein, Tony Silva, Miguel Barreto and Noe Barreto, sent the audience into fits of laughter with their antics and frolics.

Accorcion selections by Art Carneiro, Hawaiian music by the Moana Beach Boys, with Agnes Rocha dancing the Hula Hula, and a jazz number entitled "The Music Goes Round and Round" comprised the next part of the programme.

In the latter item, Fred Abraham, Chappie Lawrence and the "Hot-Cha-Cha Babies"—a beautiful chorus of "females" gained sustained applause.

The Tavares sisters offered "I've got my fingers crossed," and received deserved applause.

Gus D'Aquino, also of local radio fame, sang "When It's Twilight on the Trail" and other songs.

Tap-dancing was next, offered by Vergie Yvanovich, Fred Abraham and Chappie Lawrence in a number entitled "No Strings."

Another farce was acted, Tony Silva and Willie Osborne convulsed the audience with "Arabian Dance."

In conclusion, following selections by the "Million-Airs" Rhythm Boys and "The Lady in Red," the latter number featuring May Carneiro singing the theme song from "In Caliente," the whole troupe appeared in "Craigengower."

FOOTBALL CLUB CLOSING DAY

Intention To Enter Senior Bowls League

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

That the Hong Kong Football Club will ask for promotion to the First Division of the Hong Kong Lawn Bowls League, to follow the successful conclusion of this season's play, was intimated by Mr. J. Russell speaking at the closing day of the Club, held at Happy Valley yesterday afternoon. A large crowd was present and an enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. Russell stated that throughout the season no difficulty had been experienced in fielding two complete teams. The "A" team had finished up third in the League table.

It was a matter of speculation to state exactly what the H.K.F.C. were contemplating next season, but if three divisions were being run, then the Football Club would have three teams.

"Our green has stood the seasons' play" and at this period of the year is still set for a good game," he said. "We are indebted to the Association in playing the Rink Final on our green and a very interesting game was carried through."

SAILORS IN THE MAKING

Training For The Navy

WORK, GAMES AND GOOD FORD

New Entry Class

"What made you wish to join the Navy?" the captain asked, for the tenth time that forenoon, writes a correspondent.

The youngster of sixteen, still wearing his civilian clothes, seemed slight awed at the sight of so much gold lace—to wit, one post-captain, one commander, two lieutenant-commanders, a lieutenant, a paymaster sublieutenant, and a regulating petty officer. However, encouraged by the smile on the captain's face and the friendliness of his tone, the lad intimated that he had always liked the idea of the sea and of seeing something of the world. Also, he had read a bit—sea adventure stories, mostly.

A string of other questions followed. Were any of the boy's friends or relations in the Service? What had he done since he left school? Could he swim, and did he play games?

Yes, An uncle had been in the Navy during the War, and some talk followed as to the ships in which the uncle had served. The boy had been an assistant to a milk roundsman at Reading—a dullish sort of job from his account of it. Also, he could swim a little, and was keen on football.

KINDLY ADVICE

After a few words of kindly advice as to what service in the Navy really meant, the boy was suffered to depart. His nervousness had vanished. He was actually grinning. The captain wasn't the man-eating tiger he had possibly been led to imagine.

I was "watching new entries being interviewed on first joining H.M.S. St. Vincent, the boys' shore training establishment at Gosport, in what used to be the barracks of the old Royal Marine Light Infantry. With the present in naval personnel the St. Vincent, which has its duplicate in H.M.S. Ganges, another stone frigate at Shortley, across the river from Harwich is now taking in about thirty boys a fortnight, or about 780 during the current year, for training as seamen. They are entered between the ages of fifteen and sixteen and a half.

DRAWING THEIR KIT

New arrivals spend their first fortnight in a "New Entry Class," drawing their kits, marking them with type, or needle and thread or wool, and being interviewed by the surgeon, the dental officer, and a score of other people. The next four weeks are spent in "preliminaries," during which they are still kept entirely apart from their seniors to enable them to settle down to the novel experience of naval routine and discipline. During this time they continue with their sewing and do elementary drill and school work, this latter being chiefly for the purpose of grading them. In their sixth week they can volunteer for the Communications Branch, and after an interview, may be selected.

Boys then go, "on course," and are placed in an advanced class, general class, or communication class, according to ability. Lads in the advanced class—about thirty per cent. of the total—are given a special course of training to fit them for early advancement, and spend about fifteen months in the establishment before going to sea. Signal and wireless boys, which have been sorted out after about twelve weeks in a communication class, represent about twenty per cent. of total and do seventeen months' training, and the general class, the remaining fifty per cent., about a year. The classes, each of about thirty boys, are placed in divisions, of which there are four "on course," with one as a preliminary and new entry division. Each division may run to about 200 boys.

WORK AND PLAY

The routine is strenuous, but games, swimming, and the lighter sides of life are not forgotten. Hard work and exercise, with plenty of good food, cause the smallest rapidly to put on weight and to develop. Here is a day's menu selected at random. On turning out at 5.30, cocoa and biscuits; breakfast: tea, bread, margarine, bacon and egg; dinner: roast beef, roast potatoes, butter beans, Yorkshire pudding, eating apples; tea: tea, bread, butter, assorted pastries; supper: cocoa, bread, butter, cold steak and kidney pie, potatoes. Quality, quantity, and cooking, as saw for myself, left nothing to be desired.

RACING WITH A SMILE

That means everything for the sheer enjoyment of a meeting. Perhaps friendly criticism will not be misunderstood. It is very slight criticism, but one feels it should be mentioned.

Firstly, would it not be possible to move the huge screen for one of the cricket arenas to another location, or reduce the height of that screen? It was so stationed that it effectively blocked all view of the starts of five out of the nine races. One realises that a screen is essential, but this one reached the proportions of at least two well sized sampan sails, and it was only if one walked about fifty yards outside the enclosure that the starts could be seen.

Then there is the system of bell signals. They are most confusing to the visitor. Why not one bell for the start, and have done with that? Moreover, the warning bell for punters should not be sounded so close to the closing time. It seemed that bells were tinkling merrily from start to finish at Saturday's meeting. They were as confusing and unprofitable as an unbalanced budget.

But otherwise the meeting was an unqualified success. There was an inspiring spirit of optimism there; everyone was out for the enjoyment of the afternoon, and "grouching" was at a very definite discount.

There are bigger courses: more elaborate in every detail; more lucrative in stakes and wagers. But one would travel the world in vain to find a more happy atmosphere or a more charming little course than that of Happy Valley.

"SUZY"

Love-making as a screen art should come easy to Jean Harlow for the popular M-G-M star who makes her latest appearance starting her day at the King's Theatre in "Suzy," has had no less than fifteen different screen lovers!

Screen lover No. 13 was Francis Tom in "The Girl from Missouri," number 14, William Powell in "Reckless," Gable appeared with Miss Harlow again in "China Seas" and "Wife Versus Secretary" and Spencer Tracy for the second time enjoyed a screen romance with her in "Rif Riff."

Now, in "Suzy" Miss Harlow reaches her eighteenth featured picture and her nineteenth screen lover—Cary Grant.

CROWN SERVANTS AND THE LAW

DROIT
ADMINISTRATIF

Summonses arising out of alleged low flying at Epsom, on Derby day were dismissed by the Epsom magistrates recently. They refused an application for costs.

The Chairman (Mr. Tudor Rees) said the pilot of a Scotland Yard autogiro had destroyed what case there was for the prosecution when, in answer to a question whether it was safe for the aeroplanes to fly at the same height as the autogiro, answered, "In my view it was safe for us."

Counsel for the Crown contended that servants of the Crown were entitled to break the law to prevent others breaking it.

The defendants and the allegations against them were:—
Aerial Sites, Limited, Theobalds Road, W.C. As owners of an aircraft, permitting it to be flown at Epsom on May 27 in such circumstances as, by reason of low altitude and proximity to persons, to cause unnecessary danger; Frederick Charles Gordon Freeman, of Westbourne Gardens, W. As being the pilot, causing it to be flown; Air Publicity, Limited, Shell Mex House, Victoria Embankment; Permitting an aircraft to be flown; and William Lee Woodward, of Greencroft Road, Hounslow; As being the pilot, causing it to be flown.

All the cases were taken together. The defendants elected to have their cases dealt with summarily and pleaded "Not Guilty." Mr. Vincent Evans appeared for the Director of Public Prosecutions. Mr. David Weizman represented Aerial Sites, Limited, and Freeman; and Mr. E. Holroyd Pearce appeared for Air Publicity, Limited, and Woodward.

Mr. Evans said that observation was kept over Epsom racecourse and the neighbourhood by a member of the traffic department of Scotland Yard in an autogiro. The observer, Mr. Chamberlain, noticed an aeroplane flying between the autogiro and the grandstand. Each of the two machines he saw were showing an advertising banner and flying at a height less than 500ft. above ground level. Representatives of the Air Ministry would say that in the event of engine failure the pilot of each aircraft would have to decide between endeavouring to fly out of the danger area with the banner still attached to the machines, or release the banner at once. In either case there would be danger to persons below, for it was estimated that the machines, with banners attached, would only be able to fly 2,700ft. horizontally. If the banners were released the machines would be able to fly further, but as a banner weighed 75lb. its fall would be dangerous.

SAW TWO MACHINES

Mr. Stanley James Chamberlain, a member of the traffic department of New Scotland Yard, said, in evidence, that he had had experience as a pilot and was observing in the autogiro on May 27. He saw the two machines and both were towing banners. At 1.10 p.m. one of the machines was flying at 400ft. above ground level and the other was about 100ft. lower.

Mr. Pearce.—You realize that the object of these banners is that they may be seen by the largest number of people and that the ideal height is between 1,200ft. and 2,000 ft.—I have not studied that question.

Mr. Weizman.—Did you fly underneath either of those machines?—Not that I am aware, but I am not prepared to swear.

The witness said that the height of one of the aeroplanes was 700ft. above sea-level, and the height of the autogiro was about the same.

Mr. Weizman.—Was it safe for you to fly at 700ft.?—I am not prepared to answer that.

Mr. Max J. Bingham-Stoker, pilot of the "police autogiro" on Derby Day, giving evidence, said that over the Epsom course he was flying at between 800ft. and 900ft. by the altimeter. The two aeroplanes appeared to be about the same altitude.

Mr. Pearce.—Have you any reason to doubt that Mr. Woodward's aeroplane was in a position to land without doing damage to anyone if he had engine failure?—I can't express an opinion.

The Chairman.—That is the whole essence of the case, isn't it? Mr. Stoker said he believed that on one occasion he flew underneath the two machines.

The Chairman.—It is curious that the Air Ministry stated that the autogiro was a safe height and yet the pilot of the autogiro says he considered it safe to fly at 800ft.

COLONY RADIO ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS

Before Government could bring the Telecommunication Ordinance into force, it became necessary to establish a wireless training school, in order to educate wireless operators employed on Hong Kong ships to the standard of efficiency required by the Madrid Convention.

In addition, to regulating the status of radio operators, the Telecommunication Ordinance defines the type of apparatus to be carried by ships. Until recently, many ships licensed in Hong Kong did not conform to requirements.

HIGHER FEE

Government is not waiting until the end of the year before bringing the new scale of radio broadcast licence fees into effect. As from October 1, listeners will be charged $12 per annum for broadcast licences. These licences in future will not be issued on a pro rata basis, but will be valid for twelve months from the date of issue. Previously, all licences expired on December 31 each year.

Although Government anticipates taking over all radio traffic reception next year, it appears from the regulations that New Agencies at present receiving their own press traffic direct may be allowed to continue doing so upon payment of a fee of $500 per annum for a Receiving and Publishing Radio Station Licence. It is understood that the principal agencies affected by this new Regulation are "United Press" and "Transocean Kuo-Min."

NEW CAMP FOR ABERDEEN SCOUTS

The Chief Scout, Lord Baden Powell, will open on September 28 the new camping ground at Templars' Park, Marguerite, which has been provided for the scouts of Aberdeen.

It is about six miles from the city's scout headquarters, and is some 25 acres in extent. The site was used by Knights Templars in 1187. Under the supervision of Mr. J. Feinton Wynnes, honorary secretary of the Aberdeen Boy Scouts, an effort has been made to reproduce in the reconditioning of Maryculter House, which is in the centre of the camp, as many of the original features as possible. The colour scheme of the house is grey and red—the colours of the Knights Templars—and the interior has medieval decoration with coats of arms of previous owners over the fireplace and armour hanging on the walls. The camp has a swimming pond, a sun-bathing terrace, and an attractive log cabin.

"ENTITLED TO BREAK THE LAW"

Mr. Vincent Evans.—The servants of the Crown are entitled to break the law in order to prevent others breaking it.

Mr. Woodward, one of the pilots, of Warwick Road, Birmingham, said that, near Epsom racecourse his height was 600ft. to 1,000ft., and he maintained that height approximately during the display. Mr. Thomas Campbell Black, the airman, of Norfolk Road, N.W., in evidence, was asked by Mr. Pearce, "Did you ever see the aeroplanes flying at what you considered a dangerous height?" and he answered, "No, at no time at all. Any fully licensed commercial pilot would have sufficient skill to make a safe landing on the Downs from 500ft."

Mr. Freeman, one of the defendant pilots, said in evidence that he flew at approximately half a mile from the race track and did not fly over the course at any time. His height was 900ft. to 1,000ft. It would have been to his disadvantage to fly between 400ft. and 500ft.

Captain Leonard Murphy, Director of Aerial Sites, said in evidence that all their flights had been carried out without accident or previous complaint.

As stated above, the Bench dismissed all the summonses, the pilot of the Bench destroyed what case there was for the prosecution by answering the question as to whether the aeroplanes, which were flying at the same height as the autogiro were flying at a safe altitude, with the phrase: "In my view it was safe for us."

If it was safe for the autogiro it must have been safe for the two defendant airmen, the Chairman added. The Air Ministry's notice was not an order, but it was a recommendation to which serious attention ought to have been given as a question of safety and a matter of courtesy.
